

Kalvin Schmidt-Rimpler Dinh (USA – German and Vietnamese descent) – Electronic musician

Kalvin is a Vietnamese-German multimedia artist based in London. He primarily works on immersive audiovisual installation and performance pieces, which explore notions of ‘Gesamtkunstwerk’ (multi-sensory, 'total artwork') within 21st-century contexts. Calvin has a master’s degree in Criticism and Culture from the University of Cambridge, and has co-directed two immersive performance projects at London’s Victoria and Albert Museum. <https://twenty20.one>

Call to action:

“Learn about how refugee families are being separated at the US border, including children from their parents, despite having in no way violated national or international law. Then, learn about how you can support local and national organizations devoted to rectifying this neglect of basic humanitarian protection.” - Calvin
