

Sarah Eastman (USA – Crow and Onondaga descent) - Dancer

Sarah Eastman is a 17-year-old junior at South Mecklenburg High School. She has an older brother and younger sister and enjoys caring for her cats, painting with acrylics, powwow dancing, and spending time with her friends. Sarah currently plans to earn an associate's degree at Haskell Indian Nations University and hopes to transfer to Western Carolina University where she will major in forensic anthropology and criminal justice. Sarah and Perry (her father) are helping to promote the Web site, nativewomenswilderness.org. Sarah recently danced in a film that is currently in production addressing these challenges.

Call to action:

“Advocate to bring awareness to Murdered Missing Indigenous Women (MMIW). The stats are devastating.” – Sarah & Perry
